

Contactless Payments: Global Highlights

Tapping to Pay with Visa Around the World

Consumers around the world continue to see value in the speed and convenience of tapping to pay. Outside the U.S., more than 40 percent of in-store Visa transactions occur with a tap.¹

Contactless Payment Penetration by Region (Rate of Visa F2F Transactions as Contactless)²

Tapping to Ride Globally

Visa is working on more than 150 transit projects around the world alongside transit authorities and partners.

Following the success of Transport for London's efforts, transit authorities around the world are implementing the ability to tap to pay at the turnstile, helping riders save valuable time and improving the overall ride experience.

Sydney commuters and tourists can now tap to pay with their contactless cards and contactless-enabled devices across the city's entire train network that sees over one million journeys a day.⁸

Dijon, France launched contactless payments on all trams across the city, marking the first contactless transit program in France.⁹

The Land Transport Authority of Singapore will enable contactless payments for buses and trains. More than 40,000 contactless acceptance points will be enabled in one of Visa's largest cities for contactless transit acceptance globally.¹⁰

More Ways to Tap to Pay in the U.S.

U.S. consumers can look forward to more ways to tap to pay with Visa as contactless cards continue to enter the market.

Visa expects more than 100 million Visa contactless cards to be issued in the U.S. by the end of 2019.¹¹

CHASE

Chase, the #1 credit card issuer in the U.S., is bringing the ability to tap to pay to millions of customers with new contactless Visa cards.

PENFED CREDIT UNION

PenFed Credit Union, the nation's second largest federal credit union, has begun rolling out new contactless Visa cards across its credit and debit portfolio.

Commerce Bank

Commerce Bank's Visa debit and reloadable prepaid cards now feature the ability to tap to pay.

78 of the top 100

Visa merchants by transactions in the U.S. already offer the ability to tap to pay at checkout.

TARGET Hy-Vee

Visa cardholders will soon be able to tap to pay at all Target and Hy-Vee stores across the U.S.

More than 60%

of Visa F2F transactions occur at contactless-enabled merchant locations in the U.S.¹²

Consumers can tap to pay where they transact most in the U.S. Within everyday spend categories, the majority of merchants already allow customers to tap to pay at checkout.¹³

64%
Food and Grocery

81%
Quick Service Restaurants

92%
Drug Store and Pharmacy

Learn more about contactless payments:
www.visa.com/contactless

For merchants interested in contactless branding at checkout:
www.merchantsignage.visa.com

©2019 Visa. All rights reserved.
 1. VisaNet, December 2018
 2. VisaNet, December 2018
 3. VisaNet, September 2018
 4. VisaNet, December 2018
 5. VisaNet, November 2018
 6. VisaNet, September 2018
 7. VisaNet, December 2018
 8. <https://mobile.abc.net.au/news/2018-11-26/sydney-trains-allow-bank-cards-to-tap-on/10554506>
 9. <https://vision.visa.europa.com/blogs/contactless-payments-in-dijon-trams>
 10. <https://www.stratetimes.com/singapore/la-expands-contactless-payment-trial-for-public-transport-to-visa-nets-cardholders>
 11. Q4 2018 Earnings Call
 12. VisaNet, December 2018
 13. VisaNet, September 2018